

Tropical rainforests are dense, warm, wet forests that get a lot of rain all year. They are found in Asia, Africa, South America, Central America, and on many of the Pacific islands. The Amazon rainforest is the world's largest, but there are other significant rainforests in Central Africa's Congo Basin and Southeast Asia.